

PRESS RELEASE

21st February 2005

Annual Neurology SpR Study Weekend continues it's success

The Annual Neurology SpR Study Weekend continues to grow in popularity with the 7th meeting, to be held in Birmingham 10th – 12th June 2005, fully subscribed within a record 7 weeks.

Initiated in 1998 by a small team including Medivents' General Manager Lucie Flint, the event is now an established feature in the neurology calendar. Respected experts from across the UK present a mix of the latest scientific developments in neuroscience and practical advice on clinical management issues. The meeting is sponsored by GlaxoSmithKline.

Dr Richard Perry of the SpR Weekend Steering Committee commented "The Annual Neurology SpR Study Weekend is a major fixture in the neurology calendar, and Medivents play an instrumental part in its continuing success. From start to finish, Medivents keep the whole thing running with Rolls-Royce efficiency. Manager Lucie Flint is always bright and cheerful, faces challenges with unflappable equanimity, and it is always the greatest pleasure to work with her. If you are going to plan a meeting, have Medivents at your side."

UK-based neurology SpR's can register interest for the 8th Annual Neurology SpR Study Weekend, planned for June 2006, by emailing lucie@medivents.co.uk.